BUT LITTLE PROGRESS. Email Frospects of Agreement Between the Members of the Behring Sea Conference.

WASHINGTON, Fob. 17 -A treasury officer is authority for the statement that the agents considering the Behring sea seal matter have made but little progress, and from present indications their labors will not result in an agreebitration. The agents held a meeting sterday at which Secretary Blaine ad Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British dnister, were present for a short time. The difference between the agents of the United States and those of Great Britain is said to be due to the antagonlsm of the interests they represent. They substantially agree upon the conlusions of fact as to the existing con dition of things respecting the seal-herds, but they do not agree as to the cause of the great decrease in the numcause of the great decrease in the number of fur-bearing animals. The British agents insist that the destruction is due to the k ling of the seal on the rookenes, permitted by the United States under the contracts with the States under the conclusts which the agents of the United States assert that the loss is due to pelogic or deep-sea killing, which the poachers follow.

The British agents are reported to be somewhat surprised at the exceptionally able manner in which the Americal ally able manner in which the American agents have prepared their case Sir Baden-Bowell, the representative from England, and himself an authority of high standing, has told several people in Washington that he considered Dr. C. THE WORKING MAN. The problem of the age is how o elevate the working man and give him better clothes, better food, more leisure and more of the comforts of life. This is the base of thought, the goal towards which all the efforts of our modern thinkers tend. It is evident that the great thing and the one that will go farthest in lifting the working man in the scale, is good health. Without this all his labors are in vain. One of his drawbacks is a tendency to contract bronchial cause him to lose time that cuts seriously into his savings and tends to discourage him. While Manderson has done this in the lenate, we have at the other end of the capital the spectacle of the representa-tive from this district urging the repeal of the bounty on beet sugar.

Sr. Louis Globe-Democrat: The Dem ocratic congressmen who are favoring free wool legislation seem to have over looked that Andrew Jackson said, "Provfor the growing of hemp and wool, and these being the great materials of our national defense, they ought to have adeuate and fair protection." But perhaps Jackson hus ceased to be good Demoocatic authority.

THE war department at the request of en. Russell A. Alger has collected and put into shape for publication all the locuments and official papers bearing on the charge that Gen. Custer recom mended his dismissal from the army. Thesee records show that Custer made the recommendation as alleged, but they also rhow that the order was based upon injustice, and when made public will not be oreditable to Custer.

HENRY WATTERSON of the Louisville Courier-Journal, says: "Mr. Harrison will be his own successor upon the national Republican ticket, and it any one thinks he will prove a weak candidate he will find himself very much mistaken." Touching this opinion the Chicago Journal observes that the opinion of an impartial Democratio observer is more valuable than that of a cilverite Republican or a Republican who wanted an office and failed to get it.

The House has adopted a resolution metricating the committee on agriculture to investigate the effects of the McKinley law on agriculture. The title of it should have been "a resolution to promote Democratic campaign literature." The farmer, who buys his goods cheaper now than he did before the McKinley bill became a law and who finds a wider market for his products at advanced prices, knows what the effects of the Mc-Kioley law are on agriculture and will speak on that subject next November as he spoke in Ohio last November.

DR. W. K. SPENCER, a Presbyteri in pastor who preached in the opera house at Adrian, Mich., Sunday, at a union service, created a stir in the congregation by announcing that he had recently made the rounds of the salcons and gambling states of the city is disguise, and found the salcons of the city is disguise, and found the salcons and gambling states of the city is disguise, and found the salcons of the city is disguise, and found the salcons of the city is disguise, and found the salcons of the city is disguise, and found the salcons of the city is disguise. places of the city in discuise and found almost every place he had visited, one or more members of his congregation. These he denounced without stint. Many were evidently fearful that he would unme them, and sighed with relief when he had closed his sermon without doing so. The contribution was remarkably large after the sermon, which was due no doubt to the gratitude felt by the black sheep for having escaped vithout public exposure.

Partisans Endangering the Country In discussing the danger of a free silver law and the effort of the Democrate in congress to enact such a law, the Chicago Evening Journal says that no silver bill will become a law. Such a bill undoubtedly will pass the house by Democratic votes. In the senate there is a squad of Equitable Building and Loan free silver Republicans, who will voto with the Democrats for the bill, and it may pass that body. But it will be promptly vetoed by President Harrison, Incorporated Under the Laws of Ill.) and while the house may re-pass it over AUTHORIZED CAPITAL, - $50,000,000 the veto, a two-thirds vote can not be had in the senate for that purpose. Mr. J. M. Maris was enabled to arrange a novel social party at his home on Wes North street He doubtless felt that the ladies of Decatur at the numerous after noon receptions had plotted to freeze out the gentlemen and drive them to the oluba, and so he concluded to assue invitations to "ontraged hustands," a number of whom assembled at the Maris home, where they were to have a merry time together It was a whist party for which original "Big Chunk" tobacco markers were provided. Mrs Maris was $1.40 for 50 lb. Sack invited by Mrs Chambers to play whist at her home, and after she had gone away Mr and Mrs Alexander arrived to do the honors of the occasion.

At Last Takes Action

A bill has been introduced at Washington requiring all baking powders containing alum and ammonia to be so labeled This is a step in the right direction, and has been long forshadowed by the action of state legislature, boards of health, food commissioners, etc., in this matter The bill affords needed protec tion to the public, for the evidence as to the injurious effects of alum and ammonia is very heavy, but it will nevertheless be chewing gum. The other ladies were fought bitterly by the manufacturers presented with chorolate whistles. Mayor whom it effects who are accustomed to Chambers won the gentlemen's prize, a soil their goods as 'pure Cream of Taitar,' "absolutely pure," etc
